D. GILLIES,

Hongkong, August 25, 1885 MOORE'S GOGO SHAMPOO WASH.

THIS WASH HAS PROVED ITSELF TO BE THE BEST PREPARATION EVER PRE-SENTED TO THE PUBLIC.

THE Bases of this compound is made of I Gogo Root. The natives of the Phi lippine Islands never use anything else for washing their hair; you never see them bald. and it is quite common to see the females with hair from 5 to 6 feet long. By using this SHAMPOO WASH as directed, you will never be bald. The Proprietor offers the Wash to the public, being entirely confident that by its restorative properties it will surely arrest decaying hair, completely eradicate scurf, dandruff, and cure all diseases of the scalp; it does not contain any poisonous drugs, but, by its cooling properties allays the itching and fever of the scalp. Mr. Moore has succeeded in being able to put this Wash up in bottles without allowing it to ferment, and he will guarantee it to keep any length of time in any climate. CAMPBELL, MOORE & Co., Ltd., Under Hoogkong Hotel. Hongkong, May 17, 1888

The boy rushed off as hard as l and—this was a fact well worthy of notice-while on his way there met the master of the shop coming up you that the master of the shop was not seen at or about the scene of the fire during the course of the night, and it will be a question for your consideration what was at 10.30. the master of the Kut Fung doing at that time walking in the direction of his shop before any alarm could have extended to his residence in Circular Pathway. While this boy was rushing off to give the alarm a the Central fire station two men who lived in the adjoining shop, a coffin shop, rushed into the Kut Fung shop to see what they could do towards putting out the fire, and they will tell you that in a corner of the shop against a wooden partition which separated the shop from the rice-pounders' place and which also separated the shop from the passage, they found a lot of firewood piled against that partition; firewood, not al tied up in bundles, but some tied up in bundles and some cut up into small chips that immediately over this was a shelf or which were a number of candles; that the wood was wet with something, and that or the floor of the shop itself was kerosene oi which they felt and smelt and about which Curiously enough, in the apper part of the house, on the first floor, there were a number of men belonging in some way to the Gas-works, men who light the lamps, and the men have to attend to them. On this particular night a district watchman called to district watchman noticed the smell kerosene while going up the stair, which partition, and mentioned it to the foreman lamplighter. So far the evidence deals and the circumstances immediately connected with that: There is then another class of evidence which I propose to call, which will directly affect the fourth dethat touches him in any way is the fact that was seen by this boy between three and four o'clock in the morning of the fire coming from the direction of his dwelling house and going towards his shop. Perhaps it would be better if in the first instance I told you that this boy assisted in drawing afterwards in taking it back to the station. he was talking to some friends about the fire and what he had soon, and very fortunately a clerk employed in the Police Office heard him and immediately insisted on the boy going up there to give information. was not allowed to leave until his statement was taken down in writing. Mr Denny strives to enforce his opinion that Kurea is not a vassal of China :--

A vacancy having occurred in the position of Foreign Advisor to the King of Kore. and Inspector of Customs, and his Majesty having requested His Excellency Li Chang was in July 1885 invited to the post. entered upon the duties of Advisor-the Customs branch of the position having been placed under the Customs of China before my arrival in the East-with the assurance that in my efforts to preserve peace and good order and in all that pertained to the dial support of the Viceroy, an assurance which, I regret to say, bas not been veri-

On the contrary from the very first, I have met with almost every conceivable

kind of opposition from Chinese sources. The failure of the Viceroy to keep his promise in this regard I am at a loss to understand, unless it is due to the Peking government's disapproval of his Korean policy. In view of this and the fact that China's course seems so unwarrantable and unjust. as well as against the best interests of Korea and China, I determined to avail myself of A second prize of a Bronze Medal and the present occasion to publicly point outall efforts of a private character having failed-the dangerous ground China is trying to occupy, and to present Koroa's side of the controversy, with a view of correcting, if possible, some of the accepted fallacies on the situation in the peninsular Kingdom and its relations with the Colestial Empire, which have been so often misrepesented in the Physical Geography (Appendix to Royal | native and some of the foreign newspapers in China during the past two or three years. through design or under a misapprehension | pretext that he is 'at home' in Korea. about as fictitious, as the latter is without foundation. Theirgeographical positions, under friendly intercourse, make them a source of strength to each other, while the fact that Korea has drawn largely upon China's population, language, religion, laws, education, arts, manners, and customs, which have contributed so much to the sum total of Korean civilisation, all combine to strengthen the chain of attachment and cause her to look to China, as in the past, for friendly advice rather than in any other direction and in my judgment nothing will interrupt Composition (a letter to be written in this friendship but a continuation of the illegal and highhanded treatment Korea is Translation from English into Chinese, now receiving at the hands of the Chinese, and Governor to the petition of the Indian using either the Chinese character or the their studied and persistent attempts to destroy Korean, sovereignty by absorbing the ship for Korca that induced His Majesty, Arithmetic, up to and inclusive of Frac- when the advisability of making treaties with Western countries was pressed upon him, to take counsel of the distinguished Viceroy at Tientsin; and I know of my own 1. Some time in 1885, after I had been invited to Korea but before my arrival, a policy of absorption, gradual or otherwise, seems to have been decided upon by the Peking government. The position of advisor and inspector of customs was segregated, and the Customs service passed to the control and direction of the Chinese service under the plausible assurance that it would be better and more economically administered, and that there was no political significance to be attached to the change, and while the service has been henostly and well administered under the change, yet no one act, since the cenclusion of the treaties, has contributed so much to mislead the public mind in regard to the trae relations existing between China and Korea politically, than this ill-advised one on the part of the Korean government,

Neither, in the meanwhile, was Commissioner Yuan idle, for it was about this time that he adopted as a title for his Legation that miserable misnomer and subterfuge 'Residency', and in the most insolent way claimed to advise and even direct the King in long-winded memorials, and upon public and official occasions to assume the rôle of host instead of guest, on the flimsy
